

Why the Criticism of American Christian Education from The Opposition

By: Katherine Dang

Widely permeating modern Christendom is a certain doctrine pertaining to the "last days" which leads men to believe that the cause of Christ is lost in The Christian Era. No wonder belief in Him is rendered desperately impotent, for Christ is Himself impotent in the face of this world's evil and the author of evil; however, for one to suggest that anything related to Christ can be a "lost cause" is only remarkably incredulous. The cause of Christ in The Christian Era is to demonstrate His power in the life of the individual, in spite of the flesh, sin and the devil. The Father shall glorify His Only Begotten and Beloved Son just as the Father promised.
